Social Services Information

Welcome to our facility! In addition to providing outpatient physical therapy, balance and vestibular therapy, and respiratory therapy, we also offer psychosocial services to our patients and their families. As a Comprehensive Outpatient Rehabilitation Facility, we offer our patients the opportunity to visit with a licensed Social Worker. The services that the Social Worker can provide include both practical and social-emotional assistance in dealing with an injury or illness. This service is provided as an integral part of the rehabilitation program and is furnished at no additional cost to the patient.

Why Psychosocial Services?

Illness and injury cause change in an individual's daily life and influence his or her functioning, as well as sense of well-being. Adjusting to this can be difficult. Rehabilitation counseling can offer help with the solving of practical problems and coping with emotional issues that occur as a result of injury or illness. Many of these issues are of short duration and obtaining professional assistance while receiving medical treatment can enhance both processes.

Psychosocial services are individualized and confidential. A social worker can provide assistance in these areas:

- Counseling of patients and family
- Information and referral
- Referrals to community agencies
- Health Education
- Assessment of eligibility for financial assistance

Staff

Psychosocial Services are provided by a Licensed Social Worker, who graduated from an accredited university, and is experienced in assisting our patients in coping with their disease process.

Who benefits from Psychosocial Services?

Patients who are experiencing difficulty coping with the emotional issues related to their injury or illness.

- Patients who, as a result of their injury or illness, have experienced loss of income and may be eligible for financial assistance programs such as SSI or AFDC.
- Patients who are interested in knowing about community resources that help with transportation services, housekeeping services, or meals for the disabled or elderly.
- Patients who would benefit from short-term counseling sessions aimed at adjusting to life changes, whether temporary or permanent, that has occurred as a result of injury or illness.
- Patients who would benefit from counseling or information and referral services.
